

Tyrrell & Co. (Wine Importers) Ltd – Press release – Monday 15th February 2015

Tyrrell & Co. (Wine Importers) Ltd are delighted to announce that from 1st March 2016 they will be working in partnership with Tindal Wine Merchants to increase and expand the distribution of their wines throughout Ireland.

Both Tyrrell & Co. and Tindal Wine Merchants are family owned and run businesses and were both set up in 2004. Since then Tindal have gone on to represent many of the top wineries from around the world while Tyrrell & Co.'s strength lies in its Rhône portfolio. The ethos of the two companies is very similar and Simon Tyrrell and Anthony Tindal both strongly feel this new working agreement will be mutually beneficial, not only to both companies, but to their customers as well.

In recent years Simon Tyrrell undertook a two year wine production diploma at Plumpton College, University of Brighton, studying viticulture and oenology and emerging in 2011 with a distinction. This led to Les Deux Cols, his first hands on winemaking venture from grape to bottle. The first vintage in 2012 produced 10,000 bottles and continues to grow today.

Anthony Tindal has been developing a range of wines marketed under Tindal's own labels and is actively involved in the selection and blending of these wines, which are aimed to be truly representative of the vineyards and terroirs from whence they came. Together with Simon he is very excited at the thought of working on, and expanding this range.

"I have always had huge admiration for Simon" says Anthony Tindal "his knowledge of the Rhône is unparalleled in Ireland and we very much look forward to working with him."

Simon is equally enthusiastic "I have enormous respect for both Anthony and his business ethos. The partnership and support of Tindal Wine Merchants provides me with the means to both expand our joint wine-making activities while maintaining Tyrrell & Co.'s position as Ireland's Rhône specialist."
